Design your category

Every buyer journey begins with a problem, not the solution. The same holds true for category design. Categories are created to address new gaps caused by market shifts.

Categories radically differentiate businesses by giving customers new associations with new problems and the opportunity to create net-new results. As a result, these customers see category creators as preminent thought leaders, thus allowing businesses to create their own opportunities instead of chasing them.

Also, category POVs are the foundation of your strategic business story. They not only differentiate your business, they also exponentially scale and grow it.

Stories to scale

Build belief

Category selling is an effective way to increase awareness and demand for your solution. However, its success depends on people's belief in your story. Your story must resonate with investors, analysts, influencers, partners, staff, and customers alike before it can disrupt the status quo.

Purpose-led category stories connect with your audience by driving empathy for your customers and creating belief in your ability to help them. They attract friends and followers because they are laser-focused on your mission. Their ability to scale is the key to aligning your category, company, and products. They grow you, bond you with customers, and create the sense of character that sets you apart.

Funnel a movement

Purpose-led category creators are often hindered by marketing dollars. They have to grow their own markets. Fortunately, there are funnels.

Your best asset for monetization is your IP. Using expert knowledge and influence, you can attract a following of people organically searching for answers or people that understand their problems. With category-differentiated IP on your website, come search rankings. Your purpose-led narrative alone can attract immediate results. Moreover, you can damn search volume and demand by using your narrative as a lead magnet. With the right magnet, high-ranking niche search strategy, and upsells, your acquisition cost becomes no cost.

Designing your website as a funnel is a >2X growth opportunity—even higher with influencers. If you're leveraging your mission to move your business forward, a funnel will give you the power to prevail.

Decisive action, without fail

Freedom Atlantic

Decentralized command and control optimization

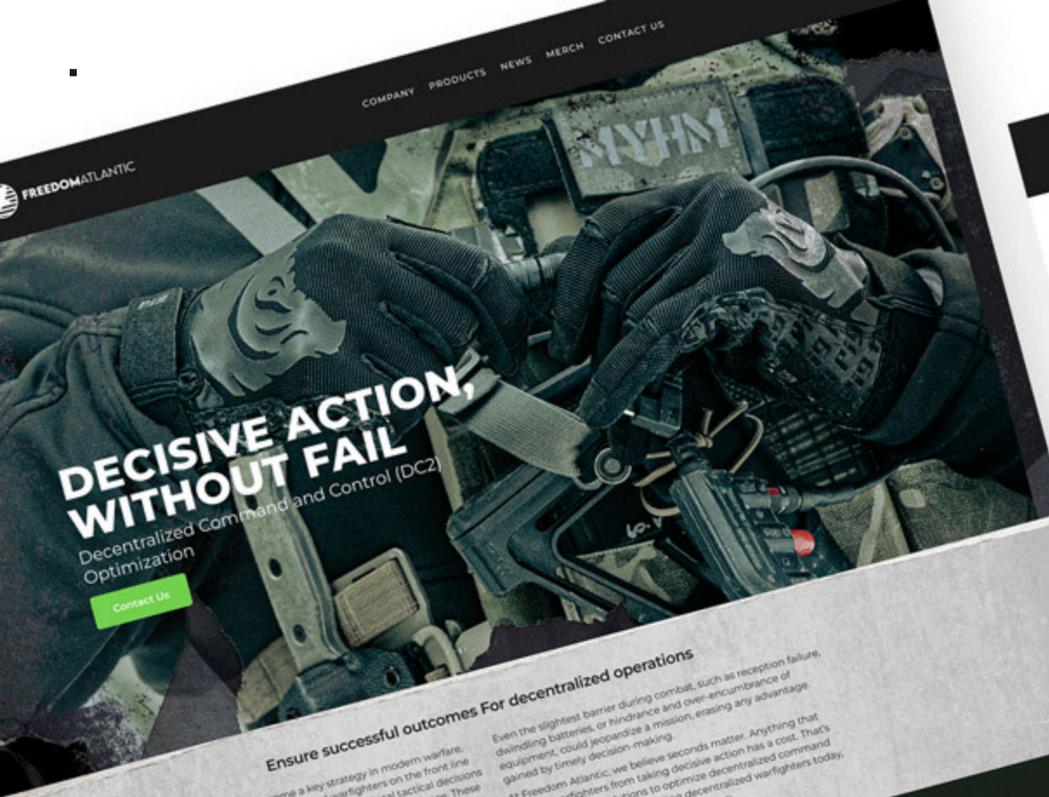

The problem

Describing itself as JADC2 services and products to solve challenging and complex problems, Freedom Atlantic needed a story for niche category leadership.

How purpose helped

- Created the POV that decisions made in battle at the lowest level decide outcomes. Successful decisions require a clear understanding of the desired outcome, situational awareness, and uninterrupted communication. In dire situations, Freedom-Atlantic tactical cable and power solutions maintain a communications advantage
- Focused the brand, business strategy, and area of specialization for future product-development

Ensure successful outcomes For decentralized operations

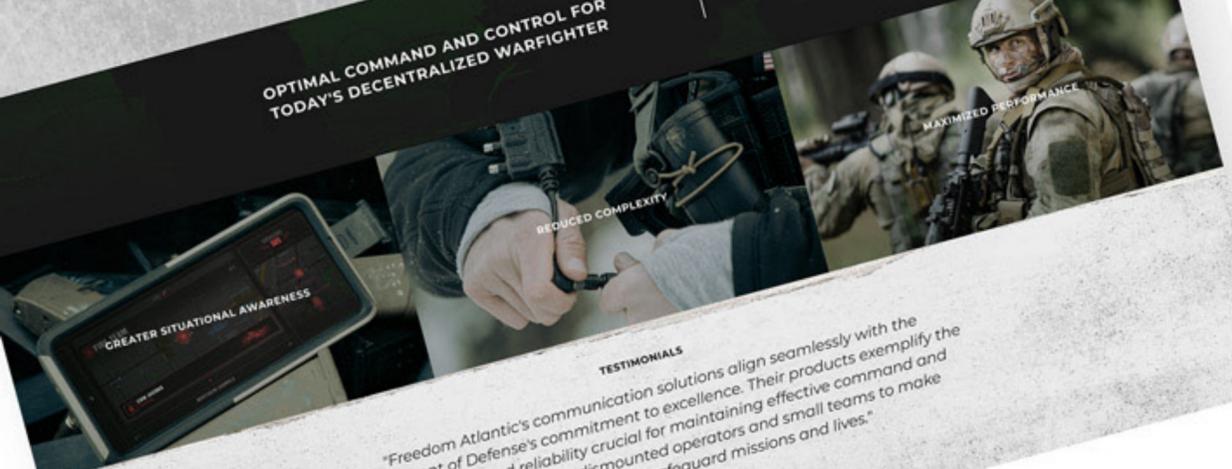

Decentralization has become a key strategy in modern warfare. Today, team leaders of dismounted warfighters on the front line are being trained and entrusted to make critical tactical decisions based on real-time situational awareness and intelligence. These decisions lead to actions that decide battles and save lives. Nonetheless, the ability to take decisive action hinges on a warfighter's communication system.

Even the slightest barrier during combat, such as reception failure, dwindling batteries, or hindrance and over-encumbrance of equipment, could jeopardize a mission, erasing any advantage gained by timely decision-making.

At Freedom Atlantic, we believe seconds matter. Anything that hinders warfighters from taking decisive action has a cost. That's why we engineer solutions to optimize decentralized command and control systems. By enabling decentralized warfighters today, we ensure more lives are secure tomorrow.

DECENTRALIZED COMMAND AND CONTROL (DC2) OPTIMIZATION

By increasing the effectiveness of ground force communication equipment across mobile and radio networks, Decentralized Command and Control Optimization plays a pivotal role in the resolute performance of today's warfighter.

Reducing cognitive load and increasing situational awareness, optimization of DC2 helps operators make better decisions faster, leading to more successful and safer outcomes. The diagram below illustrates how Freedom Atlantic innovates in this category.

Key: FREEDOM ATLANTIC (Green), OTTO PARTNER (Yellow)

- HMI (Human Mechanical Interface): Enhanced Night Vision Goggles, Radio Headset, 4-Button USB Controller.
- Control: Wireless Remote PTT, Radio Press To Talk (PTT), Audio Cable, PTT Cable.
- Compute: ATAK App, Mounts and Cases, End User Device.
- Radio Network: Persistent Systems MPUS, Thales Hub, L3Harris V3, Adapters, Antennas, GPS.
- Power: Operator Power Supply, Battery, USB Power and Data Cable (2V), USB C PD Cable, Hub, Power Cable, USB Power and Data Cable (5V), Radio Cables, Peripheral Cables, All Configuration with Power Scavenger.

Situational Awareness

Without adequate situational awareness, effective coordination and decision-making can be compromised, putting operators at risk. DC2 Optimization ensures decision-makers have the real-time situational awareness they need for swift and informed responses to rapidly changing conditions.

Reduced Complexity

With DC2 Optimization, operators can focus on the mission instead of the intricacies of their equipment. With simplified systems, power savings, greater usability, and cable entanglement elimination, operators are free to take decisive action exactly when it's needed.

Maximized Performance

In edge warfare, any edge in is an advantage. To ensure an optimal DC2, Freedom Atlantic engineers equipment that exceeds defense requirements and industry standards, with unmatched signal strength and integrity, maximum durability, and robust security against cyber threats.

Customer Revenue Optimization

The problem

Described as a sales tool “add on” for Salesforce, no market category existed for Altify. When it came to explaining the product, the organization was stuck.

How purpose helped

- Launched the story for a $3.2B category: Customer Revenue Optimization
- Shifted the market from product-led sales strategies to customer-centric thinking and introduced the concepts of “outcome-based selling” and “the revenue team” to the industry
- Fueled lead magnet content: CRO Benchmark study
- Positioned Altify for acquisition by Upland Software three months after

OneReef.org

Community-led management of coral reefs and island ecosystems

Problem: Serving the Underserved

OneReef has a proven model for community-led conservation of coral reefs and island ecosystems. But, scaling the model takes aid from philanthropic support. To gain such support, OneReef had to create a mission-focused story based on an indigenous world to which few people outside its organization could fully relate.

Solution: Inspiring Stories of Ocean Stewardship

Indigenous communities make up only 5% of the world, yet support 80% of its biodiversity. Their efforts, unrecognized and underfunded, are heroic. Telling their stories of stewardship was the key to changing everything.

Protecting our coral reefs and preserving cultures

Communities throughout the Pacific have generations of cultural knowledge to protect our ocean reefs. However, faced with today's overwhelming challenges, they cannot do it alone. OneReef partners directly with these ocean stewards to help them address challenges—like enforcing managed fishing zones, effectively measuring impact, and fostering future stewards. Whereas only an insignificant percentage of $85 billion spent annually on biodiversity conservation is made directly available to locals managing their ecosystems, we are flipping the equation—supporting trusted ocean stewards who responsibly own and manage their reef and island ecosystems.

Kayangel State Government

Support community leadership
Helping communities take the lead in stewardship:

- Establish a shared vision through local training, council meetings, and gatherings.
- Engage the community through local training, council meetings, and gatherings.
- Coordinate with government, community leaders, and partners to ensure effective coral reef protection.

Enhance stewardship
Providing resources for an effective stewardship model:

- Finance stewardship and generate economic benefits
- Provide advanced science and technology from Scripps Institution of Oceanography
- Train personnel and monitor the impact of marine conservation efforts.

Educate future generations
Ensuring crucial knowledge is passed on to future stewards:

- Connect elders and youth to transfer generational knowledge
- Build a kinship with nature through hands-on learning in after-school and summer programs
- Enrich learning spaces to inspire future stewards

Testimonials

Paulo quickly grasped the essence of OneReef, our model, and our dedication to serving ocean communities. Then he translated that understanding into the vision document we need going forward—with vibrance, clarity, and emotional connection.

I've had the privilege to work with Paulo over the last few years including a huge project to develop, build, and launch the new category of Customer Revenue Optimization (CRO). Paulo is far greater than a designer, a content architect, and a category maker, he is simply an invaluable part of our extended revenue team and how we drive value for our customers and our company!

Paulo is like a secret weapon. I don't even know what to call him: Business advisor, brand strategist, messaging expert, copywriter, designer, co-conspirator—the way his creative brain works is amazing. He marries creativity with business reality to get results.
